

SHARE:

Join Our Email List

VOLUME 4, NUMBER 7

NEW PARTNERSHIP WITH STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY ALLOWS FOR EARNING CME CREDITS!

We have established a partnership with Stony Brook University that lets you study a hand surgery topic, take an exam and earn 2 CME credits for $40.

Two topics are currently available for CME credits, Carpal Tunnel Syndrome and Wrist Osteoarthritis (SLAC Wrist). Study the applicable diagnostic guide, then complete our self-assessment exam to evaluate your knowledge. A grade of 70% correct is considered passing. The test can be taken multiple times.

MD, PA or NP users may decide whether to take the test or take the test and apply for CME credit. Hand Surgery Resource has collaborated with the Stony Brook Medicine CME Office which will provide a certificate attesting to the earned CME credit. Successful completion of the CME test provides 2 CME credits.

Visit <https://www.handsurgeryresource.org> and log in with your Hand Surgery Resource account or create a new account. Once logged in, you will automatically be taken to the Diagnoses page. Once there, click on Carpal Tunnel Syndrome or Wrist Osteoarthritis (SLAC Wrist).

The cost of the 2 credits is $40.

NEW YOUTUBE VIDEO: SCAPHOLUNATE ADVANCED COLLAPSE (SLAC) WRIST

Enjoy our new video entitled Scapholunate Advanced Collapse, commonly know "SLAC Wrist", on Hand Surgery Resource's YouTube channel. Be sure to sign up as a Hand Surgery Resource YouTube channel subscriber!!

