

SHARE:

Join Our Email List

VOLUME 4, NUMBER 8

SEE HAND SURGERY RESOURCE AT THE 2020 AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR SURGERY OF THE HAND MEETING

Hand Surgery Resource will be part of this novel experience as an exhibitor. Our virtual booth will be open to the world. At this meeting, Hand Surgery Resource will be launching Version 3.0 of Hand Surgery Source and our new partnership with the American Society for Surgery of the Hand. The American Society for Surgery of the Hand and Hand Surgery Resource are making online hand surgery education even better by making an unprecedented educational team. The American Society for Surgery of the Hand and Hand Surgery Resource will now have home page links and content links between American Society for Surgery of the Hand's Hand-e and Hand Surgery Source, our online encyclopedic text.

This exciting new collaboration will give Hand Surgery Source users direct links from our comprehensive chapters to Hand-e's surgical videos. A user can study carpal tunnel syndrome on Hand Surgery Source, review the surgical treatment options and link instantly to Hand-e's carpal tunnel release videos. Similarly, a user viewing a Hand-e endoscopic carpal tunnel release video will be able to link instantly to Hand Surgery Source's carpal tunnel syndrome section to review symptoms, signs, EMG/NCV testing and updated references on carpal tunnel syndrome with PubMed links.

Sound exciting? Take a photo of this QR code and you can have a sneak peek at the Hand Surgery Resource website right now by simply touching the URC image that appears on your phone, or by clicking here.

With an email address, you can become a registered user immediately. IT'S FREE and you can qualify for our Amazon gift card giveaway as part of Hand Surgery Resource's 2020 membership campaign.

Thank you for your time,
Larry Hurst, MD (President and Director)
Hand Surgery Resource

